

mapman

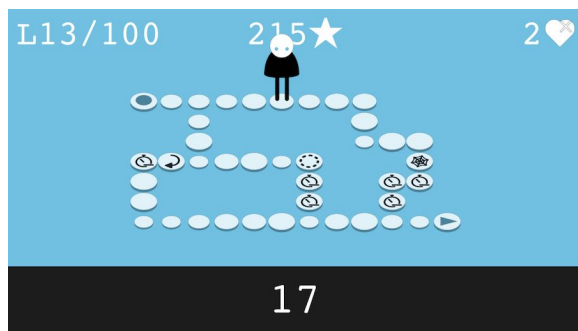

MapMan a new iOS Puzzle Game Coded on an iPhone

Tilt, shake, hide, reverse, remember, watch-out and be quick!

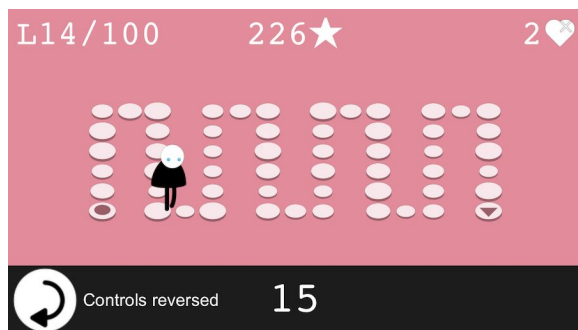

4th May 2018 - London, England - AmazeMaze games has announced the release of its first game, MapMan for iPhone and iPad.

As you work your way through each of the 100 levels you will encounter special tiles which will challenge you to think quickly, think laterally, tilt the wrong way round, tilt the right way round, remember tiles that disappear, predict where MapMan will reappear, avoid poisonous tiles and above all else get to the exit within 20 seconds.

MapMan is simple to grasp, but a challenge to master. MapMan will test your reactions, dexterity and memory. The faster you complete each level the more points you score. Collect stars along the way to boost your score even higher. Complete all 100 levels to reveal what MapMan has been looking for all along.

MapMan has been developed especially for iPhone and iPad and can be downloaded for free from the Apple App Store. MapMan has an optional in-app purchase which enables checkpoints so you can restart your game from intermediate levels without having to play all the way from the beginning. Check out screenshots and videos at mapmangame.com

MapMan was coded entirely on iPhone by its creators who like a challenge and to make challenging games. This unique story of unconventional game development is told at mapmangame.blogspot.com

AmazeMaze games is an independent games developer based in London, England and Dublin, Ireland.

Press Info: press kit, screenshots and videos available at mapmangame.com